BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1932.

FORTY-FIRST YEAR, NO. 45

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION WILL BE HELD TUESDAY NOVEMBER 8, GENERAL

Five Proposed Amendments to the Mississippi State Constitution Are Included on Ballot Where Names of Presidential Electors Appear.

Tuesday, November 8, is the date for the general election at which time there will be elected a president for the United States, and in South Mississippi, a congressman, judge for the supreme court and highway commissioner. Likewise, five amendments to the Mississippi state constitution appear on the ballot and are to be voted on.

The ballot is a most formidable appearing document carrying as it does a series of 36 names who are presidential electors, in addition to three names for congressman, and one each for supreme court judge and highway commissioner, and the content of the five proposed amendments.

To a person attempting to vote for a specific party candidate for the presidency, who has not been, in advance, informed of the party affiliation of the electors, will find it difficult to know for whom to vote. A group of nine names appear, then a line on which an additional name may be added, should anyone so desire. Then, a second, a third and a fourth group of nine names are found. In each instance the rule provides that one vote for nine electors. Mississippians, in a highly Democratic community, know that the first group on the ballot are the names of the Democratic electors, and if one desires to support Franklin Roosevelt for president, one places a check mark after nine names, as follows: W. H. Powell, E. S. Candler, Mrs. H. Dinkins Walker, William H. Maynard A. T. Patterson, C. E. Johnson, Mrs. A. B. Schaefer, Dr. D. T. Brock and M. Ney Williams. Voting for this group of electors gives them the privilege in turn of casting your individual vote for the Democratic candidate.

The second group are the "Black and Tan" Republican electors, namely, Mrs. Ruth L. Walker, E. E. Hindman, H. D. Holly, F. W. Womack, Mrs. Cecelia C. Davis, Calvin V. Taylor, R. W. Puckett, E. E. Roberts and F. S. Swalm.

The third group are the "Lily White" Republican electors, namely, Henry A. Moore, F. A. Wright, C. H. Cowen, I. N. Wright, Ed Rowlands, E. G. Nelson and W. E. Guild.

The fourth group are the Socialist electors: H. J. Champion, Frank L. Borland, A. N. Ezell, John G. Adams, J. Q. McMullen, B. R. Sumrall, J. W. Smith, H. A. Harbaugh and A. J. Collins.

Vote for Congressman
Three names appear as candidates for congressman for the sixth district and only one is to be voted for. W. M. (Bill) Colmer is Democratic nominee; Charles M. Hays is the Black and Tan Republican candidate and John R. Tally is the Lily White Republican candidate.

Virgil A. Griffith's name appears as the only candidate for supreme court judge from district 2.

Five Amendments

The five amendments for which Mississippians are to vote at the general election were suggested by the last legislature. Texts of these resolutions appear in the Echo this publication. The first resolution is to amend so as to provide that appropriation bills shall not continue in force more than two months after the ending of the fiscal year next following the meeting of the regular biennial meeting of the legislature. The second resolution is to change the beginning of the fiscal year from the first day of October to the first day of July. The third resolution is to increase the minimum age of children attending free schools from five to six years. The fourth resolution has to do with setting forth the qualifications of an elector, providing that the payment of poll taxes shall be the only payment of taxes required to entitle citizens to vote. The fifth resolution allows for the legislature to classify property.

County Commissioners
The county election commissioners in Hancock county who were named recently are, Mrs. Emilie Gex, Dr. D. H. Ward and John Mollere, all of Bay St. Louis. This group of commissioners is engaged in preparing a list of those who are to be in charge of the general election at the various boxes in Hancock county.

COUNTY IS NOT TO PAY ADDITION

Order of Tax Commission For Increase on Certain Articles is Rescinded.

The special increase in taxes on certain articles ordered by the state tax commission early in October for Hancock county has been rescinded and this additional taxation will not have to be met by the tax payers of Hancock county, according to an order from the commission to the board of supervisors rescinding the original increase order.

The board of supervisors met in special session some ten days ago to consider the order of the tax commission on the increased taxation, and believing that conditions in the county did not warrant this increase at the present time, named Chas. B. Murphy, member of the board, as special representative to appear before the tax commission requesting the rescinding of the original order. Mr. Murphy went to Jackson last week and after presenting testimony to the tax commission secured from that body a rescind of the former order, so that no increase of tax will be effective at this time.

The board which had continued in session from time to time during the month to hear from the tax rolls which were retained in Jackson some weeks, and to pass on the proposed increase, adjourned Thursday of last week.

Rev. Gerault Jones Speaker Before Rotary

On Wednesday noon the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club met at the Hotel Weston in regular weekly luncheon meeting.

The speaker of the day was Rev. Gerault Jones, Pastor of Trinity Episcopal church at Pass Christian, Rotarian, whose subject was the 6th object of Rotary, relating to "Good Will."

Rev. Jones' talk was unusually interesting and well delivered. He spoke of what good will toward the South American countries will mean for the future of this country.

Starting his talk he referred to an article recently written by Will Rogers, who had just returned from the Latin countries and stated that he took no good will there and returned with no good Will, which of course was said in a jesting manner.

Rev. Jones in his talk cited many instances in the purchase and building of the Panama Canal and of the expected building of a canal through Nicaragua by the United States for future transportation or another short cut for vessels from the Pacific to the Atlantic ocean, which would be of inestimable value.

All members are urged to be present at a meeting Saturday at 4:00 P. M.

TAX LEVY FOR 1932 IS SET

Board of Supervisors Raises Levy 7 1/2 Mills and Lowers Assessment $1,100,000

The board of supervisors of Hancock county at the fiscal session of the October meeting last week set the levy for 1932 at 60 1/2 mills, outside of Bay St. Louis and Waveland and 50 1/2 in those towns, this levy based on an assessment of $4,200,000. In reality the assessment is $4,600,000 but always it must be estimated that some taxes are not paid and thus the tax income was computed by the county at $4,200,000.

Last year the levy was 43 mills outside Bay St. Louis and Waveland and 33 inside those towns, but this income was obtained from an assessment of $5,700,000. Thus the increase of 7 1/2 mills in levy goes with a reduction in assessment of $1,100,000.

The next year's levy for the county follows: state tax 8 mills; bond sinking fund, 3 1/2 mills; general county fund, 8 mills; road and bridge fund, 7 mills; road and bridge bond fund, 17 mills; loan warrant bond fund, 7 mills; school fund, 10 mills; special school district levies follow: Kiln Consolidated School fund, 14 mills; Sellers Consolidated school fund, 14 mills; Sellers Consolidated school bond fund, 10 mills; Dedeaux Consolidated school fund, 19 mills; Gulf View Consolidated school fund, 7 mills; Catahoula Consolidated school bond fund, 6 mills; and Mulatto Bayou school fund, 2 mills.

Last year the levy was as follows: bond sinking fund, 2 mills; general county fund, 8 mills; road and bridge fund, 6.5 mills; road and bridge bond fund, 13.5 mills; loan warrant bond fund, 5 mills; school fund, 2 1/2 mills; Kiln Consolidated school fund, 15 mills; Sellers Consolidated school fund, 15 mills; Sellers Consolidated school bond fund, 10 mills; Dedeaux Consolidated school fund, 20 mills; Gulf View Consolidated school fund, 7 mills; Catahoula Consolidated school fund, 8 mills; Catahoula Consolidated school bond fund, 4 mills; Mulatto Bayou school fund, 2 mills.

From a survey of the two years' levies it is observed that the only increase has been in bond funds. Only 15 mills of the levy remains in the hands of the board of supervisors with which to operate the county, namely, the 8 mills from the general county fund and the 7 mills from the road and bridge fund.

It is of value to know that the 3 1/2 mills bond sinking fund for next year will retire the last of the $50,000 bonds issued in 1913 for road building purposes and after January 1, 1933, this levy will not be included in the county levy. Further, the 7 mills for the loan warrant bond fund, will be used to retire $28,000 bonds and pay interest.

The 17 mills for the road and bridge bond fund will be used to retire $39,000 of bonds of the road and bridge issue, of $862,500.00 and pay interest.

It is noted that this year the levy shows decrease in 1 mill for three of the special school districts, Kiln, Sellers and Dedeaux, and 2 mills increase for Catahoula bond fund, this though on a smaller assessment.

The difference in the levy between Bay St. Louis and Waveland is due to the 10 mill general county school fund which is not collected by the county in Bay St. Louis and Waveland, when the cities make special school levies.

Rev. Jones' talk was unusually interesting and well delivered. He spoke of what good will toward the South American countries will mean for the future of this country.

Starting his talk he referred to an article recently written by Will Rogers, who had just returned from the Latin countries and stated that he took no good will there and returned with no good Will, which of course was said in a jesting manner.

Rev. Jones in his talk cited many instances in the purchase and building of the Panama Canal and of the expected building of a canal through Nicaragua by the United States for future transportation or another short cut for vessels from the Pacific to the Atlantic ocean, which would be of inestimable value.

All members are urged to be present at a meeting Saturday at 4:00 P. M.

Approximately $9,000 is Paid by Supt. McQueen On Overdue Salaries

Approximately $9,000 was paid out Saturday to teachers and transportation contractors in Hancock county by Albert S. McQueen county superintendent of education. Of this approximately $7,000 was obtained from state funds and the other was borrowed, Mr. McQueen states.

This money paid the county teachers and truck drivers all of the money due them from last session and paid half a month's salary for this session. Some three weeks ago Mr. McQueen borrowed sufficient funds to pay half a month's salary. This leaves the teachers and truck drivers due either one or two months of salary according to the time their respective schools opened, Mr. McQueen stated.

RELIGIOUS HOLIDAY OBSERVED

All Saints' Day Tuesday was Celebrated With Services And Cemetery Decoration.

All Saints' Day was observed Tuesday in Bay St. Louis with an official holiday by proclamation of Mayor Chas. Traub, Sr. All schools public and Catholic, gave the pupils holiday. Business houses closed at noon.

At Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic church four masses were held, at 6, 7, 8:30 and 10 o'clock, with all observances of holy day of obligation.

The cemeteries of the city were beautifully decorated for the day, with every grave cleaned and placed in special condition and many flowers laid in reverence. A visit to the cemeteries disclosed hundreds of relatives and friends of the departed assembled to work the graves and decorate them. Chrysanthemums of many colors, roses, marigolds, zinnias and dahlias predominated in the flowers. Wax and paper flowers were found on many graves. Few graves failed to have candles placed for the lighting during the blessing of the graves.

At 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the priests blessed the graves in Cedar Rest cemetery and at 4 o'clock special services were held at St. Mary's cemetery. Rev. Leo Fahey and Rev. Francis Quinn officiated at the blessing of the graves.

Girls To Canvass For Old Toys To Remake For Poor Children

Last year Miss Margery Nye of Waveland did a wonderful work in collecting and refinishing old toys and distributing them to the poor children on Christmas Eve. Many little toys were made happy by her visit, who would otherwise have had a sad Christmas. This year the Girl Scouts are going to help her by canvassing for toys and earning money to use for the paints and materials used in refinishing and will help her in every way they can. Anyone who has toys that the children have outgrown, even broken toys, will please phone Miss Nye at 328-W or Mrs. Goldman at 245 and some one will call for them.

The Girl Scouts and members of their families had an impromptu Hallowe'en party Monday night at the home of their captain, Mrs. J. B. Goldman. Many games were played, the usual apple-ducking and marshmallow-toasting indulged in and hilarious time reported by all.

An enrollment of new scouts will be held on Friday night at 7 o'clock in a camp-fire ceremony, in front of Mrs. Goldman's residence on the beach. All parents of the girl scouts and officers of the troop are asked to be present.

THE ROCKEFELLER METHOD.

JOHN D. Rockefeller, Jr., in Forbe's Magazine, explains the theory behind the vast philanthropies of his family. He points out that even a large fortune would be soon dissipated if squandered in unlimited gifts for small purposes.

The Rockefeller idea is to devote funds to certain carefully considered large projects, which will attempt to achieve some benefit for humanity at large, in the hope that, in the long run, the aid will prevent poverty rather than to relieve present distress.

Taking up the Rockefeller Foundation, which centers its interest upon health and the General Education Board, which tries to promote education, he says that the object is to make it "possible for the largest number of people to live in healthful surroundings and to obtain educational opportunities fitting them to earn their own livelihood."

Discussing the Rockefeller Institute, he says that when it was being considered, his father was told that by investing a few million dollars he might be able to get tangible results but that he might get nothing. As the average man cannot afford any such gamble, the field is necessarily confined to those of great wealth. The Institute spends millions of dollars, hoping to make valuable medical discoveries which may stamp out deadly diseases and be instrumental in averting untold human suffering "not alone by curing diseases but by preventing them."

MONEY COMING BACK.

ONE of the evils of the lack of confidence in banks and business was the hoarding of currency, particularly needed for business transactions. The Federal Reserve Board reports that hoarding has decreased, saying:

"Since July 20 there has also been a release of currency from hoarding estimated at $250,000,000, the board said. "This estimate is based on the fact that the amount of money in circulation declined by over $130,000,000 at a time when it usually increases by more than $110,000,000."

One of the lessons of the past few years has been that our financial structure needs regulation, so that public confidence will not be lost. As soon as depositors regain confidence in the stability of banks financial conditions will improve. That confidence is being regained, due to wise measures of helpfulness upon the part of the National Government.

As for the emancipated business girl, out on her own, Capt. Ayers says "she finds her work and her social interests so satisfactory, as a rule, that she has no particular reason for pulling up stakes and departing for parts unknown."

WISE CHILDREN; WISER PARENTS.

The other day, Morton Rosenburg, 11, and his sister, Jeanne, 9, anxious to escape music lessons, left their parents' home, leaving a note which read: "Goodbye Forever."

A search of the house showed that two small handbags had been packed with their belongings. Police search failed to find the missing children but the next day they reappeared, saying that they had spent the night in a schoolhouse and that everything went fine until night came and the young lady began to cry.

As Morton tells it, she cried and cried so long that "I had to bring her back home again. I was glad when daylight came."

Where the wise parents come in is the announcement from the overjoyed father and mother that there will be "no disciplinary action."

WHAT DOES THE AVERAGE MAN READ?

WHAT does the average man read? Attempting to answer this question The American Newspaper Publishers' Association canvassed the reading habits of a representative group.

The results indicated that men average forty-five minutes a day reading newspapers, twenty-five minutes a day on magazines and one-half of the men average less than one book a month.

In other words men spend twice as much time on magazines as on books and five times as much on newspapers. This ought to be interesting to those who advertise.

From the standpoint of culture the ratio may be deplored, but in the present day of better newspapers the column contain much that is neither trivial or ephemeral.

What we don't know worries a lot of people who know less.

It won't be long now before the Red Cross will let you join for another year.

Well, the election will give the member of one party something to be thankful for.

It won't be long now before the people will celebrate Navy Day by junking warships.

Wise economists are beginning to preach the doctrine that prosperity finds its roots in the soil.

DEFENDING SPORTS.

THE criticism directed against the emphasis given sports by the newspapers; the slighting criticism of the man who buys and reads the newspaper for its sports section alone, the criticism of the over-emphasis placed on football, never disturbs me," says Fielding H. Yost, athletic director at the University of Michigan, in an article in the Rotarian Magazine.

"I believe that if there are enough men, in the welter and turmoil of the modern world, who find time to interest themselves in clean, virile sport, we can point to these men as unfailing signs of an ultimate salvation for us all. I would far rather have America be called a nation of sports' enthusiasts than nation of money-grabbers," contends the veteran football mentor. "I would far rather have my boy study the sports section than the stock-market pages, or for the matter, the lurid first-page stories of the world's woes and sordid scandals.

"Much has been said about the sacrifice the boy must make in order to prepare himself for, or to make, the athletic team in our schools, colleges and universities." Mr. Yost continues. "Just what is a boy expected to do? Only this—Stop doing all the things that harm him; and begin doing all the things that build him; that develop him physically, mentally and morally; that make him cleaner, keener, stronger, finer, more courageous and more efficient. In other words, he does the opposite of making a sacrifice. No one training for an athletic team is expected to do anything other than what any boy should do who wants to give himself a fair chance in the game of life.

"If football teaches temperance, right living regular habits, sportsmanship, cooperation, confidence, courage, spirit of service, study of the game and the lesson of loyalty, can it fail to endow the characters of those who play it with something that will live with the boys all their lives and make them bigger and better men, men considerate in victory and without despair or alibi in defeat? I say 'Yes' in most emphatic terms because I have seen it happen, time after time to scores of my own boys—and some of them are grandfathers now."

MAN UNPREPARED.

THERE is a growing sentiment among thoughtful minds that the human race is not prepared to properly use and enjoy the great material advances which have been made. Engineers and scientists have given man "previously unpossessed and unimagined capacities and powers," says Sir Alfred Ewing, British scientist.

"Beyond question many of these gifts are benefits to man, making life fuller, wider, healthier, richer in comforts and interests and in such happiness as material things can promote," but the English scientist raises a question as to man's preparedness for such wealth, saying: "But we are acutely aware that the engineer's gifts have been and may be grievously abused. In some there is potential tragedy as well as present burden.

"Man was ethically unprepared for so great bounty. In the slow evolution of morals he is still unfit for the tremendous responsibility it entails. The command of nature has been put into his hands before he knows how to command himself."

Along the same line an American writer, James Truslow Adams, moralizes: "In countless homes in America to-day there must be going on a serious questioning of what it is that makes life worth while, and what is really worth striving for. My own opinion is that there are plenty of us who are getting fed up with the philosophy of life of the past decade and with the position which our country occupies, with its crime, its lawlessness, its disgraceful politics, its abandonment of ideals, its loss of prestige and honor abroad and at home. There is no use in railing at America, or expecting her to take her proper position in the world, unless each of us as citizens makes an effort to make his own life worth while on the basis of values which are not wholly material.

WHY PEOPLE LEAVE HOME.

DISAPPOINTMENT in love has not caused one suicide in New York for fifteen years," declares Capt. John H. Ayers, head of the Missing Persons Bureau of New York Police, who thus nails one of romance's threats.

In his book, "Missing Men," the author describes many murders, suicides, faked suicides and unsolved mysteries. Discussing the reasons why 250,000 citizens of his metropolis disappeared from home in a decade and a half the veteran official says, "most people leave home voluntarily."

Citing reasons, he lists "business difficulties, the sale marriage, love that has proved a mirage, the nagging, boring, hypocritical or spendthrift mate, or general domestic difficulties."

More adults than children disappear, the ratio being three to one, and men outnumber women in about the same proportion. He says the desire for adventure, usually attributed to the young often causes men to vanish. However, "more married than single women drop out of sight," which, while provoking thought, is explained by the married woman's opportunity for more direct action.

What we don't know worries a lot of people who know less.

It won't be long now before the Red Cross will let you join for another year.

Well, the election will give the member of one party something to be thankful for.

It won't be long now before the people will celebrate Navy Day by junking warships.

WITH THE STATE PRESS.

FOOTBALL MUCH SAFER UNDER THE NEW RULES.

THE new intercollegiate football rules and regulations, adopted last summer, apparently are achieving their purpose of making the game safer for players and more entertaining for spectators.

These rules and reforms, which eliminated some of the more dangerous plays and formations, were adopted after last fall's total of more than 50 casualties had created antagonistic public sentiment that threatened the welfare of the game.

The National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, which has been gathering national college statistics this season, announces that of 250 injuries to players this year only one was serious.

Complete figures reveal that with the season more than half done, ten deaths have been attributed to football hurts and two players have been seriously hurt. Of these twelve cases, however, 11 resulted from plays on high school and sand lot teams. The New Orleans victim was the only college player.

These figures support the contention of investigators and authorities that competent supervision makes the college game safer than the high school game, that high school players, younger, more fragile, and with less training than their elders, need this competent supervision even more than the college men.

NAVY DAY.

ON this Navy Day, our thoughts should turn to George Washington, who more than any other man in our history, made possible those advantages which we, as American citizens, today enjoy.

We know that George Washington at the very beginning of the Revolutionary War clearly saw the possibilities of naval warfare. He, better than any other admiral or general in the revolution, recognized the importance of the navy as a vital organ of warfare, and of the value to be accrued by joint operations of the army and navy.

And George Washington did everything within his power to build up a naval force for the struggling colonies. While Congress was debating ways and means to create an American Navy, George Washington began actually to fit out vessels.—Meridian Star.

PROBLEM.

THE national government faces a responsibility."

Quoting the democratic presidential nominee, Franklin Roosevelt, in reference to the troubles of the unemployed.

Mr. Hoover has never accepted our national duty to the poor.

He has merely offered a cold shoulder to all national responsibility.

He has told the country, that the care of those in need, must lie in the hands—

That neither congress nor the white house can "be bothered" with the destitute.

Twelve million unemployed—Millions of hungry families; millions of starving babies—

Millions who cry for bread only to receive the governmental stone.

Our economical system has sadly fallen down.

In these particular times, it is good to know that a major party presidential candidate, accepts responsibility for starving millions of the land.

The party is named democracy; the man who speaks the word of hope for the hungry, is Franklin Roosevelt.—Meridian Star.

DEBTS.

BOTH the Democratic and the Republican platforms insist upon the payment of European war debts.

Europe owes us money. We face two alternatives.

Insist upon full payment or forget the European debt.

Of course, we can enjoy another moratorium—merely prolongation of uncertainty.

If we insist upon payment, we may face the necessity of a "collection" war.

Nobody wants to fight—at least for money.

Europe is not going to pay—at least at present. Little to do, save wait and watch and see.

We might, perchance, adopt the expedient of reducing rubber tariffs to permit our European friends to pay.

If we tear down present tariff walls—our European friends might make a little money now and then to apply upon American war debt account.

Under the present situation, nobody can make money. The Smoot-Hawley-Mellon tariff bill bars money-making agencies—not only for the outside world, but for Americans, ourselves.

Neither men nor nations can live in a hole in the ground. We are dependent and inter-dependent. We gain or lose as we trade or traffic.

JAPAN LIMITS SPHERE.

THAT proceedings in Manchuria are not as easy for the Japanese as might be supposed is indicated by the report that Tokyo is expected soon to announce that future military operations will be limited to an area east and south of the Kiangnan mountains.

This will mean the abandonment of about one-third of Manchuria, and will leave buffer zones on the Siberian and Mongolian borders. The drive into Jehol is expected to take place and it carried through will place the Japs in touch with the Great Wall, built several hundred years before Christ as a protection against the Tatars.

What we don't know worries a lot of people who know less.

It won't be long now before the Red Cross will let you join for another year.

Well, the election will give the member of one party something to be thankful for.

It won't be long now before the people will celebrate Navy Day by junking warships.

Wise economists are beginning to preach the doctrine that prosperity finds its roots in the soil.

A TRIBUTE

Of the Memphis and Shelby County Bar Association to The Memory of Prather S. McDonald

The following is reproduced from an article appearing in the Memphis Daily News under date of October 26.

Prather S. McDonald was born at Ashland, Miss., on the first day of March, 1887. He was the son of Lena S. McDonald and Judge Will T. McDonald. He was educated in the schools of the town of his birth and at Bay St. Louis, Miss., and later attended the University of Mississippi where in 1908 he received his Bachelor of Art degree. His legal education was completed at Harvard Law School and he never lost his love for his Alma Mater. It was largely through his influence that the convention of the Harvard Law School Alumni was held in Memphis in 1928.

In 1911 he took up the practice of law in Memphis. After having practiced for some years as an associate of Colonel J. W. Canada, in 1921 he formed a partnership with J. W. Canada and Avergne Williams under the firm name of Canada, McDonald and Williams. This partnership continued until 1923 when Mr. McDonald went to New York City where he became trial counsel for one of the leading firms in New York, Cravath, Hemenway, Leffingwell and Degersdorff. His association with this firm continued until 1927, when he organized his own firm in the city of New York, specializing in trial work. He returned to Memphis in January, 1930, and from that time until his death was associated in the practice of law with his father, Judge Will T. McDonald and his brother, Percy McDonald. These are the milestones along the pathway of his professional life.

As a lawyer he was always conscientious, careful, and diligent. He was a well read lawyer with a broad and accurate knowledge of the law. His preparation of his cases were thorough and his arguments always commanded attention and respect.

His fortune varied at different periods of his life, but his mind and heart were unvarying and steadfast. He was ever genial, kindly and unselfish to all with whom he came in contact. His life was tragic, filled with far more grief and sorrow than is usually allotted to a man, but in spite of all the affliction and adversity which attended him throughout his life he was ever courageous and his courage and natural geniality and optimism triumphed over every adversity.

Prather McDonald was born an aristocrat, he lived an aristocrat and he died an aristocrat. He was a gentleman of the old school. His life was clean and pure. His thoughts were poetic and beautiful. He was a true and staunch friend. His death occurred in the city of Jackson, Tenn., on the 9th day of October, 1932, and he left surviving, in addition to his parents and his brothers and sisters, two children, a daughter Mariett Solyce McDonald, aged fourteen, and Somerid McDonald, a son, aged nine. These children have a heritage in the memory of their father, that will be more valuable to them by far than any earthly estate which he might have bequeathed to them.

In his death the Bar of Memphis and Shelby County has lost a member who by his daily life and conduct always manifested the highest ideals of our profession.

Prather McDonald's will contains a clause which is typical of the man and it may not be amiss to quote it here:

"IV. I appoint my brother, W. Percy McDonald, executor hereof without bond and as Guardian of both of my said children without bond. I command them to his love ever as he knows I love them and him. I ask that he see to their religious education as a special charge as a true Belief is vital to happiness."

As will be seen from this public announcement of his faith, Prather McDonald was religious and his will shows that he desired beyond all else that his children should receive proper religious training and so it is that at such an hour we always ask the question which was propounded to the Savior, "Master, if a man dies shall he live again?"

The firmness of Prather McDonald's faith as exemplified in his life and in the language of his will strengthens our own faith and we indulge in the hope that in the glad sunlight of a never-ending morning we shall meet him and know him just as we knew him here, and so, Brethren of the Bar—

"Shirk not from the word 'farewell'; As if 'twere friend's final knell; Such fears shall prove but vain;

So changeful is life's fleeting day

Whene'er we sever, Hope doth say 'We part to meet again.'

Therefore, he is resolved by the Memphis and Shelby County Bar Association that we bow our heads in solemn reverence to the memory of our late beloved friend and fellow practitioner, Prather S. McDonald.

Be it further resolved that we tender with this tribute to his memory our sincere sympathy to his family and kindred in this their great loss.

"SIX HOURS TO LIVE" IS GREAT FILM COMING TO A. & G.

International intrigue, mystery, romance and drama, have been combined in masterful manner to make "Six Hours to Live," at the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday, one of the most entertaining pictures of the year.

Warner Baxter is immense in one of the most colorful roles of his career, that of "Captain Paul Onslow," diplomat, who struggles single-handed to save his small country from the hands of powerful neighbors.

The picture takes its title from the circumstance that the life of Baxter, a victim of the plotting of enemy powers at a disarmament conference at Geneva, Switzerland, is briefly extended, in order to accomplish everything he wishes to do.

Voice of Boles Heard.

Boles, of course, gives a satisfactory performance as always, and his gorgeous vice, heard briefly at the conclusion of the picture, gives the production an ethereal-like beauty. George Marion, as an eccentric scientist, has the best role he has enjoyed since he played old "Chris" in "Annie Christie." He is always an excellent performer, and this role gives him full scope for his best work.

Beryl Mercer wins herself new sympathy by her interpretation of a war mother, and Irene Ware is more than satisfactory in a minor role.

"Six Hours To Live," is a daring undertaking, and that it is such a powerful, dramatic entertainment is due not only to the fine work of the cast, but owes also a large debt to the inspired direction of William Dieterle. He has handled a difficult subject with his touch of a master.

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

Tom Mix began his twenty-fourth year in motion pictures last week and, incidentally, suffered severe injuries when his horse, Tony fell during the filming of a scene.

The first Slim Somerville-Zazu Pitts comedy, "Beauty and the Brute," has been delayed by the illness of the comedienne.

After reading the script of "The Inside," Carole Lombard declined to play the part opposite James Cagney. She was on loan from Paramount. Mary Brian takes her place.

The Warner Film, "The Match King," based on the Kreuger career, has been completed. Warren William and Lily Damita have the leads.

Film companies are now in the Arctic, Africa, the Alps, Mexico and two are about to go into the jungles of the Straits Settlements.

Universal is making "S. O. S. Iceberg," in Greenland. "The Rebel" in the Alps and will make "Pan River" in the Straits. MGM is filming "Eskimo" in Alaska and will make "Man Eater" in the Malay jungles.

Lillian Harvey, who appeared in "Congress Dances" will play opposite John Boles in "His Majesty's Car," a musical play to be produced by Fox.

"Nora" will probably be produced by MGM, with Jean Harlow. The story by Anita Loos has been under a Will Hay's ban, but may be produced anyhow.

RKO, contemplating a new production of "Little Women," asked a radio audience whether the play should be modernized and who should be in it. Three fourths of the letters requested that it be kept in the last century and many suggested Katherine Hepburn as the star.

Janet Gaynor, now making "Tess of the Storm Country," with Charles Farrell, will begin "State Fair" in November. Miss Gaynor is one of the best box office attractions and her company keeps her as busy as possible. Already it is announced that "Paddy-the-next-best-thing" will be her subsequent picture.

Jimmy Durante will probably be starred in a film by MGM, following his work in "The Phantom President."

Eight Paramount directors will have charge of parts of "If I Had a Million."

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

FAIR THURSDAY NOVEMBER 10TH—5:00 TO 10:00 P. M.

The tickets are out since Friday and prizes will be given both to the class and to the individual student who sells the largest amount of tickets.

Naturally—The Fair—is the only topic of conversation these days at S. J. A. Every grade from the Primer to the Senior Class is working hard to make its end of both the program and booth part of the Fair a big success.

Double Entertainment Planned. Grammar Grade Programs Begin at 6:00 O'clock.

To enable every class in the school to take part in the entertainment a double program was planned. The first which will begin at 6:00 will be given by the Grammar grades.

The first and second grade girls will do a cutting little Folk Dance, while the boys of these same grades will be a veritable scream in their Topsy-Turvy stunt.

The third and fourth grades will honor the closing of the George Washington Bicentennial by doing a song and drill in honor of the Father of Our Country.

The fifth and sixth grades will stage the delightful little play "The Troubles of Little Folks."

"Christopher's Orphan's" is the name of the lovely play which will be staged by the girls of the seventh and eighth grades. You will be delighted with the fourteen year old Chris "system" of washing his little flock of brothers and sisters.

Be sure not to miss the grammar grade program. The pupils of these grades are doing their best to make it worth your coming. Remember it begins at 6:00 P. M.

State Baptist Convention
To Start Campaign For
Funds to Meet Obligations

Stirred by earnest appeals from their pastors and leading laymen the Baptists of Mississippi from the Tennessee line to the Gulf coast are devoting their special efforts for one month to the work of Christian Education. A campaign to raise as much as possible of the $70,000 needed by the State Baptist Convention to meet pressing obligations incurred for its three colleges will continue through November 15th, and Dr. H. L. Martin of Jackson, director of the campaign, states that the appeal is being carried to every member of every church.

"Reports and remittances already coming in," said Dr. Martin, "indicate that the small churches in remote communities as well as larger churches in populous centers, are taking this appeal seriously and we are hoping that not a church in the entire state will let itself be left out of this challenging undertaking.

"While many of our people can give but little under existing conditions, our leaders are emphasizing the importance of each church laying this matter in its own way before every one of its members, not only to secure their offerings but to deepen their interest in Christian Education."

Rev. W. E. Allen of Pass Christian is leading the campaign in Harrison and Hancock counties.

SUGGESTIONS FOR HANDLING SMALL CROP SWEET POTATOES.

With approach of cold weather those who have sweet potatoes should now be thinking of harvesting the crop in the best method to prevent loss.

Dig Following Dry Spell.

The sweet potato is a member of the morning glory family and is a native of the tropics, growing when seasonal conditions are favorable and slowing down when conditions are unfavorable and maturing such potatoes as may have been formed. This maturing consists in the changing of some of the sugar into starch, a restricted movement of the sap substances, a maturing of the cells of the potato and the thickening of the skin which helps in the protective work.

If practical dig the crop in the morning and allow them to sun in the field until evening. The sun-shine will help to drive off some of the excess water.

Handle and Grade Carefully.

Dig and handle as carefully as possible to avoid breaking skin of the potato. Once the rot fungus has started in a cut potato it may then enter the sound potatoes surrounding it. Do not pitch the potatoes into 'heap-rows' when digging. This causes bruising. Grade carefully as the potatoes are being picked up, leaving the cut, bruised, diseased and strings in the field until the good potatoes are carefully placed where they will be stored for winter use, then the off grade may be hauled in for use as feed for livestock.

Preparing Hills.

Prepare base of the hills carefully. Approximately a circle about 6 feet in diameter and throw the earth up in this circle 3 or 4 inches deep when packed. Place the potatoes on the straw, building up in cone shape pile until you have 10 to 15 bushels in each pile.

Curing.

Is danger of frost cover the pile of potatoes with pine straw and cover with building paper or boards. If the flanks are built under shelter, remove all the covering during the day and cover only at night. If banks in the open leave only enough pine straw to keep direct rays of sun off. Keep this up 4 or 5 days until potatoes quit "sweating." After this, in event of cold weather, cover with dry straw and dirt about four inches deep.

In event of killing frost before potatoes are dug, cut vines immediately as the sourness in the vines caused by the frost will go into the potatoes and cause rot. And remember, rotten potatoes are not wanted by the buying public whether caused by frost, cuts, or disease.

INSPECTION IMPORTANT FACTOR IN MARKETING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Inspection of fresh fruits and vegetables on the basis of Government grades has become an important factor in farm marketing in the past ten years.

According to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, in the fiscal year 1932, the bureau inspected and certified 282,408 cars at shipping points, and examined 53,241 cars at terminal markets—approximately 30 per cent of the Nation's car-load movement of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The inspection service is used by farmers, railroads, and the produce trade. It is voluntary, and a fee is charged for each inspection. It has increased in volume especially at shipping points from 210,832 cars in 1928 to 282,408 cars in 1932, with a peak of 311,805 cars in 1931.

Inspection gives the shipper a Government certificate of grade or condition at the time the car starts to market. Railroads use the service in connection with their liability for claims for damage in transit. Receivers at markets want the inspection to avoid or settle disputes as to quality.

The service has been an important factor in curbing many fraudulent practices in the buying and selling of products, and has had the effect of raising the average of quality of fresh fruits and vegetables in the markets.

Freshmen Revolt But Are Subdued By The Upperclassmen's Skill

It might be said now, "The Freshmen have been surprised; long live the upperclassmen!"

Freshmen of Perkinston Junior College, decided to do something new—which according to all upperclassmen—is a thing decidedly impossible for them. They decided to revolt. There are more freshmen than upperclassmen and they thought they could, easily.

Plans were made in secret. It would be a quiet change of power, said the freshmen. Then, their's would be the power to dictate terms to the then dominating sophomores.

It would be a grand and glorious uprising. Then, too, they, the lovely frosh, would have done something before unheard of in college circles. Freshmen rule for the campus. Down with the upperclassmen, they hinted.

But as many know, plans might work out alright on paper, yet putting them through successfully in reality is a different thing. So the freshmen leaders revolted. They attacked several popular upperclassmen and a scuffle ensued. Rather green and unexperienced in "takin' down" upperclassmen, they met defeat after a hard struggle. They were tallied.

It so happens that the sophomores had been rather lenient in their demands this year. There had been little tallying, haircutting, etc. Their feelings and pride "hurt" by the plan of the frosh to "seize" the power, the upperclassmen called a special meeting, initiated a course of punishment activity.

Today everything was again peaceful. Except, of course, every freshman had been the victim of a hair-cutting episode.

Auto Accident

Three men were injured and two were placed under arrest as a result of an auto collision about 10:30 o'clock Sunday night on the Old Spanish Trail near the intersection of the Logtown road, and both autos were demolished. Those injured were: George James of Mineola, Texas, D. W. Chenell, Brown, Texas, and J. V. Bowen, Waco, Texas. They were headed east. These three were taken to the King's Daughters and Sons Emergency Hospital Bay St. Louis, where they remained for treatment until Tuesday morning. The two men placed under arrest by Sheriff T. Ed Kellar, were Joe Davis of Natchez and Edward N. Delder of Pittsburgh, Pa., and these were later released on the understanding that they would pay all damages for the three injured in the collision, Sheriff Kellar stated.

Constructs Rotunda

Mrs. D. H. Boyle of the Tulane Hotel, North Beach Boulevard, has completed the construction of a rotunda before her hotel adjacent to the water's edge. This unusual building is designed in the same type of Spanish architecture as the hotel building and is of stucco. The staircase leading to the second floor is winding in effect. This rotunda is the only one of this character in this section and is a distinct addition to the beach front. It furnishes a pleasant outdoor sitting room and "look out" over the waters of the Bay of St. Louis. It replaces a former open pavilion.

Successful Benefit

The card party given Friday afternoon at the Hotel Weston for the King's Daughters Emergency Hospital insurance fund, proved quite successful with 14 tables of players in attendance. All appointments including decorations were in the Hallie's motif. At each table the prize awarded for high score was a homemade cake. A nice sum was realized.

Supervisors To Meet

The Board of Supervisors will meet for the November session next Monday. The board was in recessed session most of October due to various business, completing the final session Thursday of last week.

Mrs. J. A. Weaver of Gulfport, State membership chairman of the Mississippi Congress of Parents and Teachers, will spend Friday in Bay St. Louis as guest of Mrs. C. C. McDonald, state treasurer of the P. T. A., conferring on work of this organization.

MISSISSIPPI PUBLISHER IS HONORED AT KERRVILLE, TEXAS

Under the foregoing head the San Antonio (Texas) Morning Express October 19, says:

Charles G. Moreau, Bay St. Louis, Miss., banker and publisher, who has been on one of numerous visits to San Antonio, will be the honor guest at a meeting of the Kerrville Chamber of Commerce today.

Mr. Moreau and Mrs. Moreau have been visiting with Mr. Moreau's sister, Mrs. Muller, at the residence of Dr. W. E. Graves, 325 San Pedro Avenue the last week.

Mr. Moreau is editor and publisher of the Sea Coast Echo, a weekly Bay St. Louis publication, and is the president of the Mississippi Coast Picnic Club and Bay St. Louis Rotary Club. He is president of the Chamber of Commerce there and a banker.

He is a San Antonio enthusiast and has had occasion to give this city favorable publicity in his paper. A guest of the Austin Rotary Club last week, Mr. Moreau will be the guest speaker at Kenedy, Texas, this week of the Rotary Club at that place, composed of fifty-odd members. Last week he was guest speaker before the Kerrville Rotary Club.

Hallowe'en Parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Lee of Second street entertained Monday night at a Hallowe'en party at which the majority of the guests were members of the cast of the "symbolic wedding" given Sunday night.

Pupils of the eighth grade of the Central school enjoyed a Hallowe'en frolic at the home of Prof. and Mrs. S. J. Ingram Monday night.

Monday night a Hallowe'en dance was given at the W. O. W. Hall which proved highly successful from the view of attendance and pleasure.

Uncle Charlie's Nite Club gave its Hallowe'en dance Saturday night and reports tell of a large attendance and delightful evening of entertainment, the guests coming from all parts of the Coast.

Emile Gex, Jr., Court street, was host Monday night to a large number of boys and girls at an unusually attractive and pleasing Hallowe'en party.

Lynald da Ponte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry da Ponte, South Beach Boulevard, entertained Monday night at a large party for boys and girls, with Hallowe'en motifs pervading the evening's entertainment.

The Girl Scouts of the local troop celebrated Hallowe'en with a "hilarious" party at the home of Mrs. J. B. Goldman. This party which was designed originally as an "out of doors" affair, due to the weather, became through the courtesy of Mrs. Goldman, an interior observance.

"Wedding" is a Success

Highly complimentary are the many comments heard regarding the successful presentation of the "symbolic Wedding" at the First Baptist church Sunday night. The church was packed to capacity by interested spectators. The church had been decorated for the occasion in truly bridal style, and presented an attractive setting for the "wedding."

The costuming of the entire party of some 35 participants was especially pretty and the color scheme was delightfully refreshing. The stage management of the performance was handled well and everyone from the tiniest flower girl to the adult members of the "wedding party" gave a touch of "reality" to the exhibition. The music for the pre-nuptial service and for the ceremony was beautifully rendered and added much to the pleasure of the spectators. Proceeds from the silver offering were applied to the purchase of song books and a nice sum was realized. The choir of the church sponsored the production and was assisted by not only members of the church but a large number of friends from other churches.

Hallowe'en Observance

Hallowe'en was observed Monday with traditional fun and amusement on the part of the "younger fry" of the city, with boys moving gates, changing the location of signs, upsetting various articles which by chance were left outdoors, and causing the usual "mix up" associated with this season. Many parties were held that night when the "ghosts" walked and the "spooky" spirits were rampant. One "ghost" was placed on a porch and "illuminated."

Miss Maggie Joyner Dies

Miss Maggie Joyner, 69 years old, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Joyner, of Marion, Miss., died Thursday, October 27, at the home of her brother, A. E. Joyner, of Main street, Bay St. Louis. She was a native of Marion, Miss., and had resided here about 50 years. The funeral was held Friday, October 28, at Cedar Rest cemetery with Rev. C. C. Clark, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating.

SUMMER BESIDE THE SEA.

"Tis summer by the restless sea,
While in and out the tide;
What songs the winds sing unto me,
While waves fall at my side.

How fair and white the breakers' spray,
Flinging their foam on high;
Another joy unto the day,
Beneath the bluelit sky.

What dreams come o'er the ocean's wave,
In mem'ry's secret charm;
How tenderly the wavelets lave,
The sand so soft and warm.

The wind so gently fans my face;
It brings me wine of sleep;
How small is man in ocean's space,
Alone upon the deep.

Oh, sea, who can thy wonders tell,
Of fish and mermaid's cave;
Beneath thy waters monsters dwell,
To daunt the very brave.

What mystery beneath thy spell,
So strange in calm or storm;
I'd wander to some haunted dell,
Bewitched by fairy's form.

Century Old Theories Exploded By Science

Startling Discoveries Reveal New and Amazing Facts About Disease

Human Body Composed of Only 10 Elements. Deficiency of Any of These Destroys Health.

Strange as it may seem, these wonderful bodies of ours consist of a very limited list of fundamental chemical elements. Contrary to age-old theories, it is now known that only eleven minerals and five gases are needed by Nature in building the strongest man or the most beautiful woman.

OUR BODIES ARE ROBED

All of these essential Minerals and gases are present in natural foods but improper cooking and an unbalanced diet rob us of these vital elements. The system becomes charged with disease. Indigestion and Constipation follow. We become nervous and irritable; subject to headaches, fail to get the proper rest at night, become weak and listless and good health deserts us.

NATURE DEMANDS HELP

When any of the essential Minerals are deficient, Nature demands help. Harsh laxatives, "patent" medicines and "pain killers" won't do. You must feed into the body those missing elements that Nature demands. LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, THE LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, the most specific formula, contains a balanced supply of Minerals, in combination with vitamins and it is surprising how quickly the system responds to this Natural health building formula.

LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND

With Vitamins

SWEEPS THE SYSTEM CLEAN OF IMPURITIES
Drives Out Dangerous "Toxic" Poisons, Eliminates Excessive Acids That Destroy Health. Supplies the Body With Essential Minerals, Builds Rich, Red Blood, New Strength and Energy. Restores the Appetite and Aids Digestion. Helps You Enjoy Life to the Fullest.
